Historical locations

• African Methodist Episcopal Church

309 E. Fifth St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

This is one of two churches established in an area known as "Georgetown," which was an early African-American settlement in Madison that was as a strategic "first stop" on the Underground Railroad. It is currently closed to the public.

• Broadway Fountain

Broadway, north of Main Street

The fountain was originally cast in iron and exhibited at the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876. Purchased by a Madison lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and presented to the City of Madison in 1886, the fountain was recast in bronze as a community Bicentennial project in 1976.

• Ben Schroeder Saddletree Factory

106 Milton St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

Demonstrations, tours and exhibits show how saddle frames and other products were made between 1878 and 1972 at America's only restored 19th century saddletree factory. Open April-October, Friday through Monday, 1 to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults or two for $8; free for children 18 and younger.

• Dr. William Hutchings Office and Hospital

120 W. Third St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

This frontier doctor's office is shown exactly how it was used until Dr. Hutchings' death in 1903. A new annex features additional displays of medical equipment and items from the family. Open April-October, Friday through Monday, 1 to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults or two for $8; free for children 18 and younger.

• Eleutherian College

6927 W. State Road 250, Lancaster

A minimum donation of $5 is encouraged. The first school in the state dedicated to offering an education for all, regardless of race or gender. The school was associated with the Underground Railroad and served as a training site for soldiers in the Civil War. It is a National Historic Landmark, Network to Freedom site, and a station for the Freedom Center in Cincinnati. It is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

• Fair Play Fire Co. No. 1

Main and Walnut streets.

Italian Renaissance building, erected in 1875. The oldest volunteer fire company in Indiana.

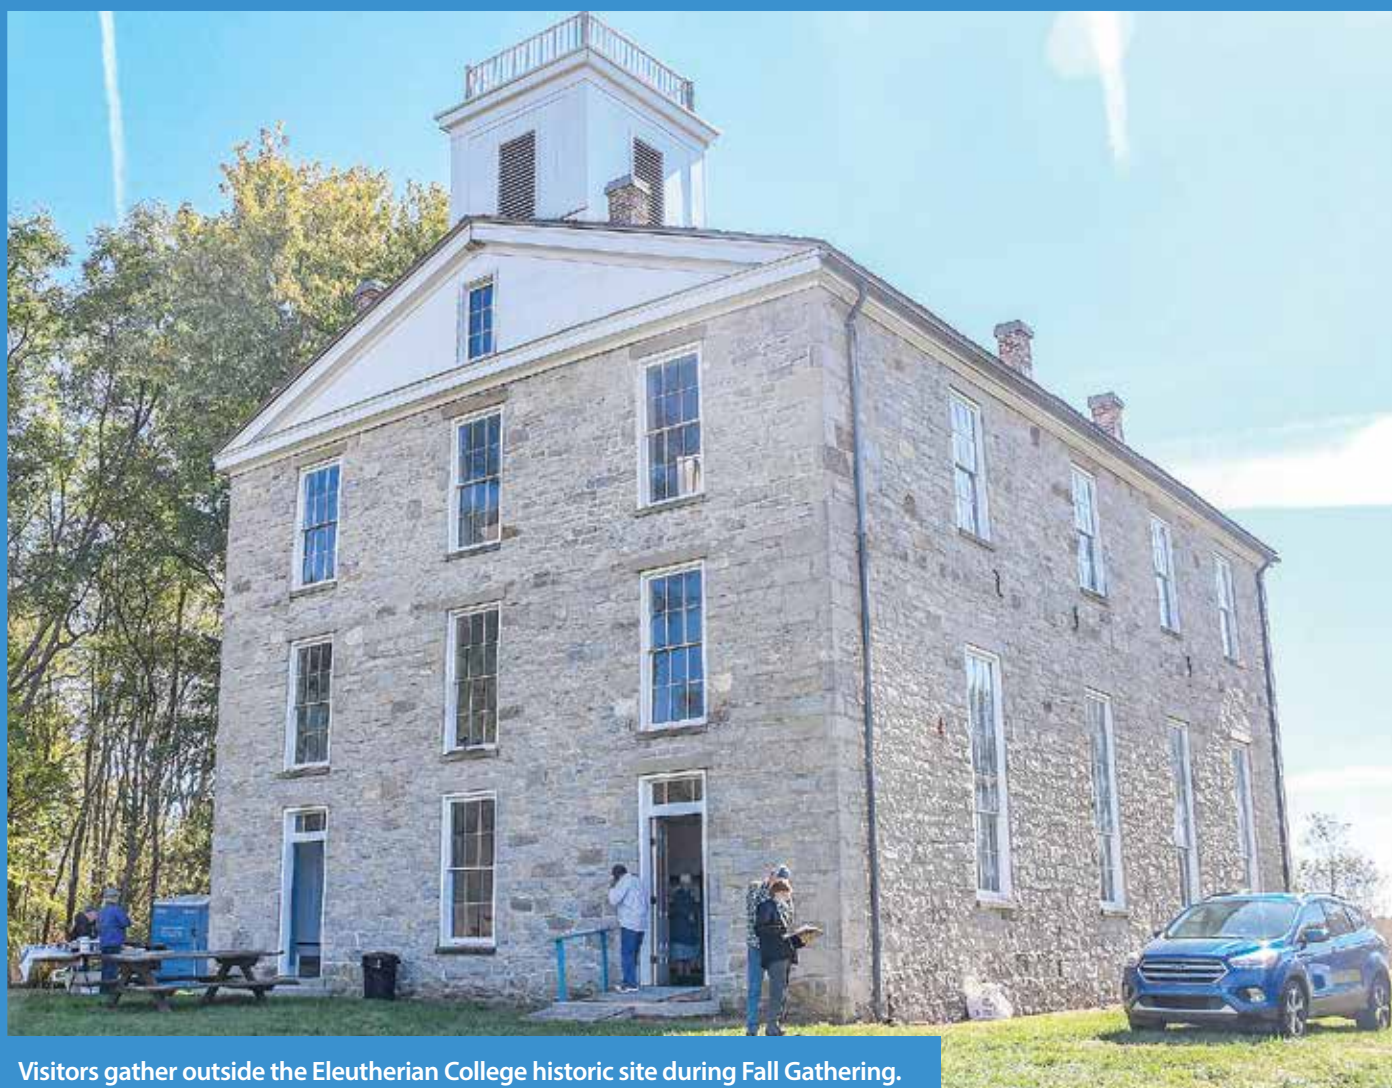

Guide Angie Cammack (right) tells visitors about the Schussler House, 514 Jefferson Street, that was one of the sites on the Tri Kappa Tour of Homes. The circa 1848 home, owned by Gregory Stewart and Michael Zink, has period antiques and more than 100 original oil paintings, providing a step back in time.

Visitors gather outside the Eleutherian College historic site during Fall Gathering.

- Francis Costigan House

408 W. Third St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

This masterpiece of design incorporates massive and complex architectural elements in a very limited space. The house has been completely renovated to the time period of 1850, including furniture true to the period. Open April-October, Friday through Monday, 1 to 4:30 p.m. Closed during major festivals. Admission is $5 for adults or two for $8; free for children 18 and younger.

- Hanover College

Hanover, (812) 866-7000

Founded in 1827, the college is the oldest private four-year college in Indiana. The 630-acre campus overlooks the Ohio River valley and features 30 buildings of Georgian architectural design. Drive through the picturesque campus or contact the college for guided campus tours.

- Jefferson County Courthouse

Jefferson Street at Main Street

The classic Revival style building was originally built in 1854-55. The courthouse underwent extensive construction to repair damage sustained in a May 20, 2009, fire. A rededication ceremony was held and the building was reopened to the public in August 2011.

- Jefferson County Historical Society

History Center and Railroad Station,

615 W. First St., (812) 265-2335, www.jchshc.org

The History Center features changing exhibits and artifacts of local history including the Civil War and steamboating. The adjacent railroad building was used as a passenger station until 1935. A 1918 wooden caboose is located next to the center.

Open May 1 through October 31, Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Open Nov. 1 through April 30, Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Archives Research Library is open year round Tuesdays and Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or by appointment.

Admission is free in 2019 because of an anonymous donation.

- Judge Jeremiah Sullivan House

304 W. Second St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

Built in 1818 and considered Madison's first mansion, the home features the only known restored Federal serving kitchen in the country. Jeremiah Sullivan helped found Hanover College and the Indiana Historical Society, and named Indiana's capital "Indianapolis." The interior is furnished with period items and the rear yard contains an interpretation of a bake oven and smokehouse. Open April-October, Friday through Monday, 1 to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults or two for $8; free for children 18 and younger.

- Lanier Mansion

601 W. First St., (812) 265-3526 (Indiana State Museum)

www.indianamuseum.org/lanier

Admission: $11 adults; $9 people 60+; $6 for children 3 through 17, free for children under 3 and for members of Indiana State Museum. This Greek Revival mansion designed by Francis Costigan was the home of James F.D. Lanier and was completed in 1844. Open year-round, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closed for Monday holidays. Tours are given hourly, with the last tour at 4 p.m. This Greek Revival mansion designed by Fancis Costigan was the home of James F.D. Lanier and was completed in 1844.

- Lyman Hoyt House

7147 W. State Road 250, Lancaster

The residence of Lyman Hoyt, a conductor on the Underground Railroad and an officer in the Neil's Creek Anti-Slavery Society. It is privately owned, and not open to the public.

- Schofield House

217 W. Second St., (812) 599-8327

Admission: $3 for adults; $5 for couples; free to Masons and schoolchildren. Built in 1816, this is the first two-story tavern house and sleeping inn in Madison. It is where the Masonic movement in Indiana began. Open April 18 through October 31; Monday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Operated by the Masonic Heritage Foundation, open to the public.

- St. Michael the Archangel

599 E. Third St., (812) 265-2967 (Historic Madison Inc.)

Hundreds of visitors took advantage of fantastic weather to stroll along the Madison's riverfront and look at the more than 500 classic vehicles that turned out for the 11th annual Riverfront Run Car Show hosted by the Jefferson County's River Rat Rodz Car Club. A red 1962 Chevrolet Corvette convertible owned by Scott Rush drew a big crowd as did the other cars, pickups, motorcycles and military vehicles that began arriving from 12 states at 8 a.m. and stayed until about 5 p.m. for the annual event.

Indiana Department of Transportation road crews were out in force plowing roads after a wintery mixture of ice and snow fell. Roads like Clifty Drive on Madison's hilltop (pictured) were either snow-covered or freshly plowed depending on how recently the trucks had made a pass.

Madison Consolidated High School's BeeCorps led Lydia Middleton Elementary students on Walnut Street to plant trees throughout the neighborhood. High schooler Mae Preston (center) provides instructions to the elementary students about the tree planting process before they scattered throughout the neighborhood to plant trees.

Do you have a friend or loved one who is currently in need of daily assistance?

We know how emotional this decision can be. Many of our residents and their families have had the same debate your family is having right now. But for more than 20 years, our team has done things differently, providing unparalleled service to hundreds of Indiana families just like yours – without sacrificing our residents' independence.

Now we're here to help you and your family find the same sense of renewal and relief those families found after choosing Autumn Trace.

Select a time that works for you and your family to visit us today and experience what a typical day would be like for your mom or dad. Once you get a glimpse of the life they could enjoy at Autumn Trace, we will guide you through everything you need to make moving in simple.

Call Erin Lowry today, at 812-274-3600
